A military storage area is located one nm south of Nan-kou, China, [REDACTED]

25X9 [REDACTED] 1/ The

25X9 Nan-kou Army Barracks Southwest [REDACTED]

25X1A [REDACTED] is located across the road, approximately 25X1A 1,000 ft east, from the storage area (Figure 1).

25X1D The barracks area appears on [REDACTED] photog-

25X1D raphy; however, photography of [REDACTED] indicates

25X1D that it has been rebuilt and expanded approxi-

25X1D mately 40 per cent and that only a few of the origi-

25X1D nal buildings exist. The storage area did not

25X1D exist in [REDACTED] but appeared on [REDACTED] photography.

Storage Buildings. The storage area measures 900 x 1,200 ft and contains four rows of three buildings each. The buildings are evenly spaced; the distance between them is 125 ft. Each building is gable roofed and measures 55 x 40 ft (Figure 2). The total floorspace of storage in the buildings is 26,400 sq ft.

The buildings are served by an informal pattern of paths which radiate from the site entrance. The varying tones of these paths indicate that some of the buildings are used very little.

Security. A small building, probably a guard house, and a building measuring 70 x 35 ft are located just outside the entrance to the area. Visible security measures consist of a perimeter fence and an enclosing wall. No guard towers or facilities for lighting were observed.
